

Dianna Major, RDH

Dianna is a registered dental hygienist and business owner who strives to improve access to care in her community, while empowering individuals with new oral health knowledge. She started a variety of local programs, including monthly free oral cancer screenings in partnership with a pharmacy, a Dress for Success initiative that provides free dental hygiene services to women returning to the workforce, and has given a variety of informal talks on oral health with agencies like Laing House (a peer support group for youth with mental illness). Dianna also has a passion for advancing knowledge within her profession. She was past president of the Halifax Dental Hygiene Society and provided a hands-on learning opportunity at her clinic on silver diamine fluoride application. Dianna freely gives her time and advice to those wishing to pursue independent practice and believes that the more we share, the better the world will be.
